

My Impressions about the Mobility in Latvia

Latvia is, no doubts, a wonderful country with a lot of adventures for everyone visiting it. Every time when I hear this word, I think to that week I have spent there within our multilateral Comenius project “The Voices from the Land”.

I was very excited to say “goodbye!” to my Romania, but, in the same time, I wanted to get as fast as to destination. Even though the travel was long and tiring, the moment of the meeting my new family was so special and I wanted that between us to bind a close friendship, because they were some very special people.

Their school was wonderful and I liked very much the modern manner in which they have developed their lessons and workshops, as well as the fact that they have managed thus to put in attempt our imagination and knowledge through many various activities, making candles, clay buttons and straw animals.

I was very impressed by the legends of Riga City and I had fun by learning how to make candies and bread, listening to an amazing organ concert, dancing, singing, creating works in nature and interpreting their significance. I met lovely pupils with diverse talents, delighting me with their performances.

The time spent together with my host family and their friends has determined me to understand what kind of people they are, as they really have proved all this period much hospitality. They did everything they humanly possible could for me to feel better and have need of nothing.

It was very hard for me to say, “goodbye!” when the leaving moment finally came, because between us a real friendship was tied, that I hope to last all our lives and to have the chance to see each other again in future.

This mobility was a lesson of life with memories that I will never forget. I want to thank you to all the participants to this mobility, pupils and teachers, for the wonderful moment we have spent together in the gorgeous Latvia and especially to our host school for the lovely schedule they have prepared for us.
